THE CITY-MANAGER PROFESSION

By Clarence E. Ridley and Orin F. Nolting

"It is rather notable that so small a group so widely scattered should have developed such a high degree of self-consciousness and solidarity in such a few years. For this reason the political scientist will be glad to have a book which gathers together briefly and authoritatively the chief facts regarding a profession that is of particular significance in the field of public administration." A Forthcoming Book of DISTINGUISHED AUTHORSHIP

SIMONDS and EMENY'S

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

The fortunate collaboration of FRANK H. SIMONDS, world-famous international journalist and correspondent and the author of several authoritative books on world affairs and BROOKS EMENY, recently Instructor in International Relations, Yale University, has resulted in an exceptionally interesting and instructive book for college classes and for the general reader.

It offers a more intimate knowledge of the facts, a keener presentation of psychological factors, and more first-hand information than has ever appeared in a textbook on the subject. Ready in January.
